

(上接 33 页)

Table with multiple columns containing names, titles, and other details. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories of disclosures or individuals. Each row contains a small number of characters, possibly a code or ID, followed by a name and a title or role. The text is dense and spans the entire width of the page.

(下接 35 页)